

EDU506: History and Philosophy of Education

This course relates philosophies of education and their application to current educational practices and problems. In addition, EDU506 relates historical milestones in education, both worldwide and American, to education practice and institutions of the present. This course is required for initial certification programs at the graduate level.

Credit Hour(s): 3

Department: Education